

Presents:

A Guide to Asking the Five Logistical Questions

A common question I get asked after going through the "Logistics" chapter of my Audio Course, "The Charming Rogue Presents: *The Secrets of Same Night Lays" is how I actually use the five logistical questions in an actual interaction. (If you don't yet have the full Audio course, you can get the "Logistics" chapter for free if you sign up for The Charming Rogue Newsletter: <http://bit.ly/3MJ7t>).

So I have put together this short bonus ebook showing just how I ask the 5 Logistical Questions in real interactions with women and how to screen for logistics properly.

To refresh your memory, here are the 5 Logistical Questions you absolutely must be asking in every interaction to ensure the girl is an actual candidate for a Same Night Lay:

1. "Who are you here with?"
2. "How do you all know each other?"
3. "How did you get here?"
4. "What are your plans for later?"
5. "What time do you have to get up in the morning?"

An important thing to keep in mind when asking these questions is to work them into the conversation naturally. It will come across very weird if you ask them in rapid-fire succession. Just pepper them into the first few minutes of the interaction (as will be demonstrated later in this PDF).

By asking these questions you will know who is an actual candidate for a Same Night Lay and who isn't. This way you can efficiently screen out those that will be most likely wasting your time.

There are 3 possible outcomes to your interaction if you are running this style of game. By seeding these questions in the beginning of your interaction, You will discover she is a) fun, or b) no fun; and she is either 1) a logistical candidate for a Same Night Lay, or 2) she is not a logistical candidate. The combination of these four two factors will determine the direction you will take the interaction.

Fun vs. No Fun

The first thing I screen for is whether or not she is fun. If YOU don't enjoy talking to her, then she's not fun. There is no sense in continuing an interaction with a girl if she is no fun or is unreasonably difficult or hostile. I know some experts would tell you to "plow" in these situations, but I find plowing to be almost always a waste of time (the exception would be when you are just beginning to build a solid fundamentals—pushing an interaction in that case will help build your calibration).

I do, however, recommend “escalation” when done on those women that are fun AND have the logistics necessary.

So what do you do if she is no fun or unreasonably difficult? LEAVE THE INTERACTION! I know there is this myth out there that a true master can get EVERY girl he interacts with, but I have yet to meet anyone where this is actually a reality. The best Charming Rogues out there certainly don’t get every girl (or at least I have never seen this to be the case).

This being the case, there is no reason for you to try to force every interaction to go the way you want it. So if a girl is no fun, regardless of whether she happens to have the logistics necessary to have a Same Night Lay, I will leave... .period!

Logistics vs. No Logistics

If she is fun, and only if she is fun, you will then screen for logistics. Whether or not she has the logistics necessary to ensure a Same Night Lay will determine your course of action. If she falls short of the logistical criterion, you will get her number so you can pursue her later and then move on to the next interaction.

If she DOES have the logistical requirements, you will escalate on her, and escalate like crazy! It may take several interactions before you discover actual candidates for a Same Night Lay, but when you do, it is your responsibility to escalate on her until you get her into bed. This means building Sexual Tension, setting Sexual Frames, inoculating her against her 5 objections, and using proper kino (all of these and more are discussed in my full Audio Course, The Charming Rogue Presents: Secrets of Same Night Lays, available at <http://SecretsOfSameNightLays.com>).

Now that we have discussed all of these factors, I want to show you some sample dialogues to demonstrate how to handle each of the 3 different possible outcomes courses of your interaction. My commentary on what is going on is highlighted in blue.

Scenario 1: No Fun (Logistics Irrelevant)

Charming Rogue: “Thought I’d come and say ‘hi’ for a sec... You guys seem fun.”

Girl: [crosses arms with a big scowl on her face] “Ummm... No we’re not!”

Some “experts” would tell you to ‘plow’ here but I think this is a mistake. If a girl is openly hostile or boring, why not go talk to some girls that are fun. I would much rather hook up with a girl that is fun, intriguing, and has a genuinely good outlook on life. Plus any time wasted trying to change this girl’s demeanor is going to most likely be fruitless. Sure, you could turn this around with enough time and skill. But the clock is ticking. Move on and find a girl who you actually enjoy talking to!

Scenario 2: No Logistics But Fun

Charming Rogue: “Hey guys!”

I like using very simple openers like this and just looking at them till they respond. Yes, it may feel uncomfortable at first, but if you can hold it just long enough, she will respond. And her response starts building compliance right from the very beginning of the interaction.

Girls: “Hiiiiii!!”

Charming Rogue: “You know how I can tell you guys have good taste?”

Girls: “How?”

Charming Rogue: “Because you respond to everything I say! I like girls with good taste.” [High Five]

Charming Rogue: “How do you guys know each other?”

Girl: “We all work together”

So far, so good. These girls are being fun. Reward them for that and continue.

Charming Rogue: “You guys don’t have to work tomorrow, do you?”

Girl: “Unfortunately we do...and way early.” [frowny face]

These girls are fun but unfortunately the logistics are not going to be there (Logistical Question #5). No girl of any amount of quality are going to lose a job over hooking up with a guy (and if she would, watch out!).

So here’s what I would do here: if it is a smaller venue and you will most likely run into her again, just excuse yourself for a minute and then talk to her later after you’ve talked to some other women. Get her number then. In a larger venue I would stick around for another minute or two to build up a bit more attraction, then get her number.

The important thing is that you ‘waste’ as little time as you can in this interaction. But even though I like getting Same Night Lays, that doesn’t mean I don’t like getting some down the line as well. Get her number so you can continue this later.

Scenario 3: Good Logistics & Fun

Charming Rogue: “Hey guys, I want to know why... girls in Las Vegas... are sooooo... fucking... wild?!”

Girls: “Blah blah blah” (Generic positive response)

This is one of my favorite openers because not only do women overwhelmingly respond positively to this but it also starts setting the sexual frames that are necessary for attaining Same Night Lays later.

Charming Rogue: “I’m going to have to keep my eye on you (point to whichever girl responds the strongest or whichever girl you like most if they all respond about equally). You may look like a nice girl on the surface, but I detect a serious naughty side!”

Girl: “How did you know that!?” (She punches you playfully and flashes an evil smile)

Saying stuff like this early on will sometimes get you blown out... but only from the kind of girls that would waste your time anyway. So don’t worry about it when this happens: She’s helping you out. When you are trying to get a Same Night Lay there is nothing worse than spending your whole night on an interaction that isn’t going in that direction.

Statements like this steer the interaction down a more sexually-charged path. Get in the habit of saying things like this early on and notice her reaction. There will almost always be a shift in her demeanor... usually for the positive!

Charming Rogue: "Naughty people can always smell their own!"

Girl: "We sure can!"

Charming Rogue: "Is this the whole crew you're rolling with tonight?"

This is a variation on the first Logistical Question, "Who are you here with?". You don't have to ask the questions exactly as stated. Practice coming up with different ways to gather the logistical information the 5 Logistical Questions aim to answer.

Girl: "No, my sister and her friends have a table over there next to the dance floor."

Charming Rogue: "So your sister is over there. Cool! How do you dorks all know each other?"

Girl: "We've known each other forever."

Charming Rogue: "So you guys are like 'besties' then."

Girl: "Yes... since high school!"

Second Logistical question out of the way. So far we know she is with her girlfriends and her sister. This is good news so far. Keep going with this interaction.

Charming Rogue: "I'll bet you guys were the cutest little hall monitors back in high school... No wonder you're such good friends." (Credit: Mehow)

Girl: "hahaha"

Charming Rogue: "You guys are fun...so far...You're probably gonna turn all stalker on me later and I'll find you hiding in my bushes outside my window with a camera, aren't you!"

Girl: "No! I'd never do that!"

Charming Rogue: "I don't know girls always say that, but then they get a taste of me and they become ravenous addicts."

Girl: "Oh really!?"

This is an inoculation against Objection #4 which is not covered in this ebook (to discover how to inoculate her against her 5 Objections, check out my full audio course: The Secrets of Same Night Lays at <http://SecretsOfSameNightLays.com>), but I wanted to demonstrate how you can go to work prepping her for the Same Night Lay before you have asked all the Logistical Questions.

Charming Rogue: "Yes...and I can tell you may just be the kind of girl who can't help but to succumb to her addictive urges. How did you get here tonight?"

Girl: "I drove here to meet up with my friends."

This is good news! She drove herself so it will be much easier to pull her home at the end of the night. She can either drive to meet you at your place OR you can have her drive you home (to ensure she gets to your place). Logistical Question #3 taken care of.

Charming Rogue: "Aren't you glad you did? Now you can totally try to make out with me... but not right here in front of your friends! I'm going to need a bit more discretion than that!"

Girl: "What about over there in that dark corner. They won't be able to see us there."

(More inoculation against one of her 5 Objections.)

Charming Rogue: "I like how you think.. what are your plans for later tonight?"

Girl: "Oh, I dunno. What are you doing?"

Usually the most positive response you will get is just "I don't know." If/When, however, a girl asks what YOU are doing later, she is showing serious interest. This is exactly the kind of response you want to hear to the 4th Logistical Question. Girls don't ask this unless they are considering hooking up with you later. Start prepping her for pulling her back to your house! Don't actually invite her yet, she will be "earning" that privilege later. Just seed the idea in her mind.

Charming Rogue: "I just acquired the most amazing hookah with an ice chamber right beneath the bowl. It produces the most smoothest, mellowest, and most amazing smoke ever! Yummy... Now you're gonna make me want to leave you right now to go smoke it!"

Girl: "Noooo... Don't leave yet!"

Charming Rogue: "Ok...I'll stay, but only because you're about to tell me about your last adventure... You are adventurous, right?"

Girl: "blah blah blah" (I could make up something here, but it really doesn't matter how she responds)

Charming Rogue: "You are adventurous. I like that, so I take it you're not really the 'early to bed, early to rise' type are you?"

Girl: "No, not really."

Charming Rogue: "What time do you have to wake up in the morning?"

Girl: "Whenever I feel like it, it's my day off."

Perfect! This girl is a very strong Same Night Lay candidate. Time to start sexually escalating like crazy. Ramp up the sexuality and you will get this girl in bed tonight!!

All of this may seem very simple, even trivial, but I assure you that the very act of screening is the very foundation to mastering the art of attaining Same Night Lays consistently!

So go out and start practicing this style of screening. Stop "plowing" in interactions that aren't likely to go there, and start "escalating" on the ones that can!

Get Out There!

Nick Quick

<http://SameNightSeduction.com>

Las Vegas, NV